Technology and Business.

N Chandra

Having spent most part of our careers as Aircraft Maintenance Engineers, our interest areas have naturally been inclined towards science and technology in general, renewable energy & aviation in particular.

We compile and analyse all such info at one place. Wherever possible, we implement theories into practice also.

This website started as NC Classes (Mentor – N Chandra) guiding AME aspirants for DGCA, FAA and EASA papers in 2007 and produced 100s of success stories. Against this backdrop, in view of the deteriorating education standards, and in a quest to find alternative solutions, this has evolved into its present shape. Today, young people can find valuable info and counselling here on career and business opportunities while following the proven “Earn-while-you-Learn” principles.

We are social.
